AN INTERCLUB TOURNAMENT ON THE WASHINGTON COURSE.

Improvements Needed on the Public Links at Van Cortlandt Park-J. H. Taylor, the English Champion, Befonted by A. Hord on the Wimbledon Common Links. By Easter week last spring the local links were all in good order for the players, but this seaso matters are in rather a backward state. The monthly handleaps are scheduled to begin at St. Andrew's on April 18, so work will have to be pushed to get the Yonkers course in proper shape. It will not be possible to have the three new holes ready so soon. The Morris County Golf Club will not open its course until May 1 when all the new greens are expected to be in perfect condition. The Lakewood season ends with the open amateur tournament, April 16, 17, and 18, and between April 20 and May 1 golf will be in full away at all the clubs in the New York group.

It is to be hoped that the Park Commissioner will follow the example of the golf clubs and order the public links at Van Cortlandt Park prepared for the opening of the season. The putting greens need to be resodded in places, and if the work is done now the course should be fit to play on by May 1. Aside from the putting greens, the course is in fair condition, although the practice of the mounted police in galloping their horses on the links has cut and supped the turf in many places. The links at Van Cortlandt Park are the only public golfing grounds in the United States. They are popular, and would be played on even more exten sively if the putting greens were kept in order. One mistake has been to leave the cups too long in one spot. Properly, when the turf begins to get worn about the hole, the tin cup should be moved to another place on the putting green. This neglect has made the holes absolutely un-playable. The Braid's Hills public links, near Ediaburgh, are played over by 100,000 golfers each season, and the other public links of Scotland and England are proportionately popular.

Should the Park Commissioners meet the Should the Fark Commissioners meet the New York golfers half way the links at Van Cortlandt Park may be made a true public benefit. All players of the game familiar with the situation believe it would be a wise and gracious act for the Park Commissioners to provide a small house for the players, in which clubs and clothing could be checked, and to appoint one or more greenskeepers, who would have charge of the golf house and the links. When the links are crowded, numbers could be issued to the players in the order of their arrival at the golf house, which would regulate their turns at the starting tee. This is the custom at Braid's Hills and it works well, although the Edinburgh course is often so crowded that a couple may often have to wait two hours before getting a chance to tee off for a round.

The deed for the trophy which hereafter will represent the women's amateur championship, which was sent by Robert Cox, M. P., of Edinburgh, the donor, and read at the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association, was engressed with illuminated initials on veilum, as The Sun noted at the time. Not to be outdone by this specimen of the scrivener's art, the United States Golf Association, before forwarding to Mr. Cox its resolutions acknowledging the gift, has had them engressed on an illuminated parchment. In describing the New York golfers half way the links at Van warding to Mr. Cox its resolutions acknowledging the gift, has had them engrossed on an illuminated parchment. In describing the latter H. O. Tallmadge states:

"The designer has found his keynote in the international part of it, framing the text in a border of conventionalized thistic leaves, which breaks away from tradition to admit a dainty water color of Edinburgh Castle. The eye travels from this historic spot to its complement underneath the signatures of the President and Secretary, while taking the place of a seal is a view of New Amsterdam, by whose shores a Hollander and an Indian are smoking a pipe of peace. As a start initial, a golf herald with the St. Andrew's cross is sounding a greeting from his trumpet, so that the quickwitted may see without stopping to read the text that this is both a greeting and an invitation from the New World to the Old, with a tribute by the way to the ancient and royal character of the game. The color scheme is exceedingly rich and yet subdued, and the whole conception is more in the order of a painting than the engrossing we are too much accustomed to see."

This is one stroke better than the record made by Andrew Kirkcaldy a few weeks ago. The holes for some time past, however, have not been at their full extent, the difference being reckoned at six or seven strokes, which has helped both the players on their records, but it is nevertheless grand solf.

On Friday, March 20, Hernard Sayers won a matchelo match against Willie Park, by five up and three to play, and on the following Monday he again beat Park by two up in another 36-hole game. The matches were played at North Berwick, Scotland.

ROWING Local Carsmen Begin Preparations for A

The actual opening of the season for the Har lem River rowing clubs took place yesterday Usually the annual awakening occurs immediately after the Harlem Rowing Association meets and fixes the programme of races for the Decoration Day regatta, but this year there has stormy weather. Yesterdap was bright enough houses, but it was chilly on the water, and most of the crews which ventured out were contenwith a very short spin. From the Lone Star Boat Club was a junior four-oared shell, with the following crew: Bow. C. Weissblatt; 2, A. Greenspecht; 3, S. Cramer; stroke, H. Kurzman, Stern and Meyer were seen in a double gig, also De Witt C. Cohen an Gustave Hafer, who are training for the light weight double-shell event of the Harlem | re gatta. Henry Wolff, and Walter Goodkind. Eight new members were elected at a meeting last week.

The smaller boats of the Atalanta Boat Club, comprising a double gig, a pair-oared gig, and two single gigs, were out all day, beginning at 11 o'clock. Capt. Brennan expects to start a junior and a senior four-oared gig crew some time this week. One member of this club signalized his appearance at the club house yesterday by a swim in the loy waters of the river.

The Dauntiess Rowing Club had out a few small boats. The Naval Reserve crew, which will represent the First Naval Battailon of this city in the naval cutter race in the Harlem regatta, is training from this house, and was out yesterlay for a short pull.

A regular meeting of the Nonpareil Rowing Club brought out a large satendance of members at the club house, but none of the crew boats was taken out. Capt. Morgan will start an intermediate four-oared shell crew next week. The candidates for the intermediate four-oared gig crew to-morrow evening and a four-oared shell crew next week. The candidates for the intermediate four-oared gig crew are as follows: E. W. Nicola, H. Maurice, F. Dernberger, J. Boland, W. Wendorff, and C. Arndt. The candidates for the junior four-oared shell have not yet been selected.

The Metropolitan Rowing Club will have an intermediate and a senior four-oared gig crew for the Harlem regatta, and a junior four-oared shell. Both the gigs were out yesterday. The intermediate four consisted of Morrison, bow: O'Rogan, 2; Hughes, 3; Harkinton, stroke. The senior crew were: Bow, W.m. Mahoney; 2, Ellis; 3, Rogge; stroke, Grant; coxswain, Irwin. This crew won in both the Harlem and Middle States regattas last season, and is expected to do equally good work this year. A new four-oared gig is being built for the club.

Three crews are in training from the Wyanoke Boat Club. A junior four-oared shell. Song; stroke, Grant; coxswain, Irwin. This crew won in both the Harlem hegatata Association, and will just all the week. The upper floor of the boat ho reek. The smaller boats of the Atalanta Boat Club.

Faulkner's Opinion of Harvard's 'Varsity Crew,
Boston, April 5.—George Faulkner, the pro-

"I am not engaged to coach the crew, but to teach them blade work and watermanship. When Mr. Mumford asked me to help him with the crew I told him that I was too busy. I suggested Breen and Casey, two good men, but Mumford said I was the man most needed. I agreed to help him on condition that it should not interfere with my business."

Speaking of the material that has been selected for the 'varsity crew Faulkner said: "I have seen very much better timber, but the crew may be worked into shape by the part of the coach and hard work on the part of the men."

men."
About the place for the quadrangular race
Faulkner said: "I feel almost certain that it will be rowed at Saratoga Lake, for it is a far better sheet of water than the Hudson, where steamboats are constantly passing over the course."
The Harvard crewis rowing on the river daily, and Mumford and Faulkner accompany the men in the launch.

WITH TROTTER AND PACER. MEN AND HORSES WAITING POS

GOOD WEATHER AT FLEETWOOD. John Kelly to Train a Notable Collection of Figers for James Butler-Promising Youngsters by Birect Classes and Con-ditions for the Inter-Club Wagon Races. With bright sunshine and a springlike temrature in the air to make road driving enjoyable, there was quite a gathering of club mem bers at Fleetwood Park yesterday for the first time this year. Owing to the backwardness of the season the winter dressing has not yet been removed from the track, and the trainers are doing nothing in the way of fast work; but there are more men and horses than ever be-fore quastered at the course waiting for a chance to parade, and there will be lively scenes at the old place as soon as settled warm

With the exception of George H. Martin, who has abandoned training, nearly all of the driv ers who made the course headquarters last year are back again for the season, along with such newcomers as "Knapsack" McCarthy, Barney Demarest of Baltimore, Dick Wilson, formerly of Rushville, Ind., and later of Binghamton and Kimball Patterson, who is to handle Major S. T. Dickinson's string of trotters. John Kelly is in his old quarters on the hill with a notable collection of flyers belonging to James Butler, President of the Driving Club. Kelly will give his entire attention to Mr. Butler's horses this year, and with twenty-four trotters and pacers on his hands he is about the busiest man at the track. Seven of the lot are two-year-olds by Mr. Butler's horse Direct 2:0516, and another is a daughter of Kelly's old charge, Directum, 2:05%.

Honey, a roan filly out of Belle McGregor by Robert McGregor, 2:1716, looks like the pick of the string in point of quality and con formation, few thoroughbreds being more blood like and racy looking than the off-colored daughter of Direct. Mr. Butler paid $2,500 for this one at Monroe Salisbury's closing-out sale, when she was twenty months old, and the filly sold on the speed shown in the ring at Madison Square Garden. She is entered in the Kentucky Futurity, and in the Hors Review Stakes, to be trotted at the Northwest ern Breeders' meeting at Chicago next June Miss Beatrice, the full sister to Miss Kate, 2:21, by Direct, is another of the fillies that has shown she can do something. Kelly broke her to harness last fall, and before winter she trotted a quarter in 0:36 at Fleetwood. Miss Genevieve, the daughter of Directum, is quite handsome filly. She is a bright bay, and she has the quality and form of a winner in the show ring.

But the pick of the two-year-olds, according to Kelly, is a bay colt by Direct, out of Rosa Ludwig, by Anteeo, 2:16%. He is a range yet powerfully formed youngster, with a highbred look about him, and so perfectly formed from nose to heels that few horsemen would want to change him at any point. Kelly worked him a little last fall in his yearling form, and he developed a turn of speed which set the Fleetwood horsemen to talking. It has been reported that the colt trotted a half in 1:08, but his trainer says he never timed him a half at that rate of speed.

"He did step an eighth in sixteen seconds, though, under the watch," said Kelly yesterday. "That is a 2:08 gait. Some day I expect to see him trot a full mile at the same clip or better. He goes low to the ground, likes to race, and doesn't know any more about making a break than the old horse did."

Mr. Butler has paid a compliment to his trainer by naming the great two-year-old Directum Kelly. This colt and the two fillies. Miss Beatrice and Miss Genevieve, are entered in the $2,000 stake for two-year-olds, to be trotted at the Fleetwood Grand Circuit meeting.

Of the other two-year-olds the black colt from nose to heels that few horsemen would trotted at the Fleetwood Grand Circuit meeting.

Of the other two-year-olds the black colt Ed B. Young, by Direct, out of Lily Langtry, the dam of the pacer Dudley, 2:14, is one of the most promising. He is a stocky, stout little chap, built just like his sire, and he bids fair to be just as fast. Monroe Salisbury says that he stepped a quarter at a 2:12 gait as a yearling in California. This youngster and the dark chestnut colt Pamiet, by Pamileo, 2:10, are Mr. Butler's nominations in the stake for 3:00 pacers, to be decided at the Fleetwood spring meeting. Soon Enouga, a full brother to Major Dickinson's fast colt Too Soon, has shown speed enough at the trot to satisfy his trainer, and he will be shaped up as a sort of understudy to Honey for the Kentucky Futurity.

The President of the Driving Club of New York will have quite a formidable string of aged horses for Kelly to campaign this year. The six-year-old pacing stallion Valleau, 2:12, by Sentinel Wilkes, is the fastest of the lot by the records. Kelly; counts upon his beating 2:12 away off this season, and has entered him in stake races at Fort Wayne and other important meetings. Baron Criep, 2:24, a five-year-old stallion, by Baron Wilkes, will be the stable's candidate in the 2:24 class. Pepper Sauce, a lengthy, rangey, bloodlike mare, by Onward, is another of the likely ones. See has gained a record of 2:2714 at Reidville, N. C. Last October. Among the green ones in Kelly's string are Esnethalda, a three-year-old bay filly, by Wilkes Boy, 2:244; Cora Wilcox, a rull sister to Fanny Wilcox, 2:104; Kentucky Queen, a three-year-old, by Axminster, 2:2124; Savonne, a roan filly, four years old, by Jay Baron Wilkes, 2:18, out of the dam of Simmocolon, 2:134, and a two-year-old full brother to Arena, 2:115;.

The joint committee appointed by the Parkway Driving Club and the Driving Club of New York has finally decided upon classes and conditions for the inter-club races to be trotted this season at Parkway and Fleetwood. Three cups are to be provided as priz Hubinger brothers, the New Haven turfmen, who own Frank Agan, 2:043, have purchased from Western parties the trotting gelding Combine, by Combination. The horse was a good winner last season at lowa and Nebraska meetings, starting out in the slow classes in the spring and closing the season with a record of 2:154. He will probably be trained at Fleetwood Park by "Knapsack" McCarthy, who is to handle all of the Hubinger horses this year. this year.

ARION DANGEROUSLY SICK. The $125,000 Stallies Sufering with

MILTON, Mass., April 5. The stallion Arion, by Electioneer, dam Manette, by Nutwood, is critically sick with pneumonia at the stables of his owner, J. Malcolm Forbes, at this place. There is said to be very little hope for Arion's recovery. He was purchased by Mr. Forbes as 000. At that time he had a mark of 2:10% as a two-year-old to a high-wheeled sulky, and this mark has never been beaten. As a four-year-old he made a roord of 2:07%. He is now seven years old. A brown filly was born to Nancy Hanks at A brown filly was born to Nancy hanks at the stables of J. Malcolim Forbes, pesterday. Mr. Forbes, although grieved at the serious condition of Arion, the colt's sire, is very proud of Nancy's daughter, as this baby, reasoning from parentage, should prove the fastest mare in the world. Her dam is Nancy Hanks, with a record of 2:04, and Arion, her sire, the great-set two-year-old trouter ever footed, has a mark of 2:10% at that age, and a five-year-old record of 2:07%.

of 2:10% at that age, and a five-year-oid record of 2:10%.
This is a combination of speed that any horse breeder should be proud of. Dr. Osgood of the Harvard Veterlary School is Nancy Hanka's attendant. To Mr. Forbes he sent to-day the regulation message:
"Mother and child both doing well."
Mr. Forbes, in anticipation of this addition to his stables, has made preparations to give the youngster every care that a baby horse should have to make it, grow into a speedy trotter. None but the attendants have as yet been alhave to make it grow into a speedy trottee.

None but the attendants have as yet been allowed to see the mare and colt. Mr. Forbes hagiven special orders to this effect, having loss several colts in past years by exposure and handling.

HARNESS BACERS BURNED. Trainer McDonald's Stable at the Buffalo

Briving Park Bestroyed, Burrato, April 5 .- Fire at the Driving Park last night destroyed the stables leased by Alonzo McDonald, the well-known trainer, and many valuable harness horses were burned to death. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil stove in one of the cleaners' rooms. There were thirty horses in McDonald's string, most of which arrived here last Thursday. The most valuable horses burned were:

The bodies of the dead horses were removed to-day to the Milsom rendering works. The loss is a crushing one to McDonald, as there was not a dollar of insurance on any of his property. So far as known, the horses burned were all without insurance.

The burned stables occupied the northeast portion of the park and were 1:5 feet long and two stories high. The flames spread with great fury, and though the Fire Department responded promptiy it was impossible to check them. The horses, maddened by the glare of the fire and the noise of the engine, resisted the efforts of those who tried to save them and many of them had to be left to their fate, the rescuing party themselves being in great danger.

The stables were owned by C. J. Hamilin and Ellen S. (pacer), 2:114, by Chiwood, from Gam danger.

The stables were owned by C. J. Hamlin and were valued at $10,000. The loss on the horses is estimated at about $50,000. RACING.

The Local Trainers Worried by Adverse Weather.

The inclemency of the weather up to yesterday afternoon has hampered the thoroughbreds considerably, and never were race horses more backward in condition to begin the spring campaign than this year. Horses quartered at Morris Park are less forward than those quartered at the Long Island race tracks.

In the latter vicinity the Ocean Parkway was a boon to trainers, and besides that great facility the beach after the tide went out was found to be an excellent exercise ground. During the time the snow lay deep on the tracks several of the trainers kept their horses going daily on the sand. By this means Henry McDaniels, Nick Chandler, and Mr. Knox of Knox & Singerly have their horses in very fair condition.

At the Westchester track for the last few days the horses have been worked with heavy winter clothing. This is an occurrence so rare that the oldest trainer cannot remember having to resort to using heavy clothes at such an advanced stage of the season in any former year. The Gravesend and Sheepshead Bay race tracks were in fine shape yesterday for working thoroughbreds. The tracks were being harrowed all day, and dried out so well that Dick Loud's filly, Myrtle L., covered a quarter mile down the front stretch at Gravesend in 25 seconds rather easily with heavy shoes on. Willie onds rather easily with heavy shoes on. Willie Simms piloted Ben Brush in a mile, which the little giant covered in 1:57. Harry Reed did a nice gallop, and Lilly and Lewes, the two-year-olds, covered three furiongs at a lively cilp. The trainers that have handicap horses in charge are beginning to show signs of uneasiness now that the weather has been unfavorable so long. Willand Lakeland has more Brooklyn and Suburban handicap horses in his charge than any other trainer in the country. Brooklyn and Suburban handicap horses in his charge than any other trainer in the country. He has a quartet in the two big events—Col. Ruppert's Counter Tenor, Messrs. Keene's King Arthur II., and Hornpipe and Emma C., his own property. Andy Hamilton, the stable jockey, has been summoned to ride the Handicap candidates daily, and yesterday he did good wook in the saddle.

Lakeland brought up his entire string to Gravesend, and the horses knew they had been to a track when they got back to Brighton Heach. Counter Tenor, with Hamilton up, was sent a mile at much better than two minutes. King Arthur II., Hornpipe, and Emma C. did about the same work. Hamilton rode Hornpipe. Gotham and Ajax had a stirring-up six rariong gallop in 1:28. Both are in good condition.

At Sheenshead Bay Matt. Byrnes seemed.

At Sheepshead Bay Matt Byrnes seemed pleased at the fine condition of the track. Senator Grady, Silver II., Primrose, Bute, and Hamilton II. were sent a couple of miles at a sweating pace. Senator Grady worked in a hood, which suggested some head or throat trouble. The youngsters pleased the big crowd of visitors to the track. The Keene division were not pushed too hard. Albert Cooper sent Stephen I. a mile in about 1:54. The rest of the string did only routine work.

J. Kneale's and Shield's horses worked a mile at a two-minute clip. William Miller's horses were brought over from Brighton Beach and worked five furlongs in 1:07.

There will be a public exhibition of the starting machine at work at the Sheepshead Bay race track to-morrow. At Sheepshead Bay Matt Byrnes seemed signed as chief coach of the Harvard football team, and ex-Uapt. B. G. Waters has been elected to succeed him. Deland resigned of his own accord, and his action has caused considerable surprise, excepting among those on the inside. At the club's last night the insiduation was dropped that Waiter Camp had got Deland to go over to Yale, and that when the next game between the two great universities was arranged the originator of many football innovations would be seen at New Haven.

Deland Resigns as Coach of Harvard's Team and Waters Takes His Place. Boston, April 5.-Lorin F. Deland has re-

In his letter of resignation Deland said he would be willing to give all the assistance he could to his successor. The appointment of hert Waters as head coach has yet to be confirmed by the Athletic Committee, but on that secre there will be no hitch. erable surprise, excepting among those on the

HARVARD'S FENCERS WIN.

THEY CAPTURE BOTH PRIMES IN THE JUNIOR TOURNMY. The Pencers' Club of This City Is Becond and the New York Turn Verein Third-Columbia and Yale Bring Up the Rear-

Individual Excellence Also for Harvard The junior team fencing competitions, open amateurs who have never won a foil medal of the Amateur Fencers' League of night at the Fencers' Club, were continued on Saturday night. They resulted, as had been expected from the results of the bouts on Friday night, in a victory for the Harvard University team, composed of J. P. Parker, Austen Riggs, and J. E. Hoffman, whose combined score was 193.49 points. The Fencers' Club was second, with a score of 159.33 points, and the New York Turn Vecein was third, scoring 151,13 points. The Columbia team was fourth, with 116.18 points, and Yale was last, with a score of 67.12. Parker of Harvard also won with case the gold medal for best individual score, making 71.00 points. His clubmate, J. E. Hoffman, was next, with 67,75, and J. H. Claiborne of the Fencers

Club was third, with 58.65. There was a larger crowd of spectators to see the finals than was present on Friday night, as the bout on Friday had been considered more or less preliminary. There was a change in the judges, Dr. G. W. Hammond taking the place of Samuel T. Shaw, Jr., both of the New York A. C. The other judges were R. O. Haubold, Charles G. Bothner, George Kavanagh, and Dr. J. T. Kemp of the New York A. C., and C. C. Nadal of the Fencers' Club. The make-up of the teams was the same as on the preceding evening, being as follows:

Columbia College—O. T. Kirby, N. A. Fliess, and O. L. Wendt. Vale University—R. T. Dana, H. B. Wilcox, and E. F. linkie. Hinkle, Harvard University—J. P. Parker, Austen Riggs, and J. E. Hoffman, J. E. Hoffman, A. Bertin John Allaire, H. G. Preu, and Otto Henne.
Fenera' Club—G. Bettini, J. Gerard, Jr., and J. H. Claiborne.

Clathorne.

The victory of the Harvard team was as great a pleasure to the members of the Fencers' Club as to the winners themselves, as the medals were offered by President Roosevelt of the Fencers, Club to bring forward and encourage the younger swordsmen, and for this reason it was hoped one of the visiting teams would prove to be the winner. The Harvard men showed careful training and easily outclassed the majority of their opponents. The summary: FOURTH ROUND.
